THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

Just a Little Bit More of the Leiter Wed-

frs. Boardman's Dancing Party Las Night and the Ten at Corcoran House-Personal Notes.

Mrs. Cleveland went to the wedding breakfast yesterday at the Leiter mansion at nad left it before any but the very first errivals had come from the church. The cridal gifts were shown at the wedding They were displayed in two large rooms whither trusted servants conducted such of the guests as were invited to view them The jewels, a very gorgeous assortment of which were presented to the bride by her parents, brother and sisters, glittered behind the glass doors of a strong case. In this collection were a three-strand pearl necklace, a collarette of diamonds and several diamond stars. Mr. and Mrs. Leiter gave their daughter, besides, a case of silver, an entire service of the most elaborate description. Sir James and Lady Miller gave a turquoise and diamond necklace. The British ambassador and Lady Pauncefote, a gold smelling bottle, set with jewels; the Chinese minister and Mrs. Yang, a roll of Chinese crepe, and the Japanese minister, a roll of Japanese silk. When Mr. and Mrs. Curzon left the house it was only to drive cut to Mr. John R. McLean's country place, Beauvoir, which is quite near the President's home at Woodley. There the short interval which precedes their departure for England will be spent. Sir James and Lady Miller left this city yesterday afternoon, and will also immediately return to England. Lord Lamington, who was best man at the wedding, salls tomorrow, as his marriage to the daughter of a titled Londoner will shortly take place. The engagement was announced just before hesailed for this country.

A feature of the incidents at the wedding breakfast was the signing of a register by such of the guests as were invited by the rostess to do 50. This book, which had parchment leaves, was in the blue and silver parlor, known as Miss Leiter's boudoir, where a servant was in attendance, to hand each comer the quill pen. Mrs. Cleveland's signature was the first to be inscribed.

Mrs. and the Misses Brice had some friends among the New Yorkers who were parents, brother and sisters, glittered behind the glass doors of a strong case. In Miss Eleanor Harry of Frederick, Md., is visiting Miss May Helen Howe, at 1419 Lieut, and Mrs. Jacobson are in their Lew home, 1009 Massachusetts avenue northeast, where they will be pleased to see their friends informally on Monday evenings.

Mrs. A. B. Bateman has returned home after a sojourn in Aiken, S. C., accompanied by her sister, Miss Lulu Wood, who has greatly improved in health. They will be at home to their friends Wednesday, May 1. 510 B southeast.

May 1. 510 B southeast.

On Thursday next the marriage of Miss Eillie Dorothea Schroeder, eldest daughter of Prof. A. W. Schroeder, to Mr. Melville Blair Domer, son of Rev. Dr. Domer of St. Pauls' English Lutheran Church, will take place in the parsonage of the church. It will be a very quiet affair, due to the fact of the recent bereavement in the bride's family. After the marriage they will leave immediately on a bridal trip to the north.

The parlors of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard The parlors of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard

The parlors of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Geler of 1251 H street northeast were filled last evenirg with a host of friends to welcome home their son, Mr. Caspar F. A Swiss Entertainment. The Grutli Verein gave an entertainment last evening at Arion Hall, which was largely attended by the Swiss of this city, last evening at Arion Hall, which was largely attended by the Swiss of this city, their descendants and friends. Among others present was the recently arrived Swiss minister, Dr. J. B. Pioda. The occasion was availed of to give the minister a formal greeting and present his resident countrymen and their friends to him. The chairman of the reception committee, Mr. Hitz, made a brief address of welcome, to which the minister responded in a stirring patriotic speech, when music and dancing were indulged in by young and old. The feature of these reunions of the Swiss is that they always make a family affair of them, bringing with them their children of all ages. It was a pretty sight to see the young and the old promiscuously dancing or partaking of refreshments. "What is it these Swiss maidens do to retain such beautiful, delicately tinted complexions?" asked a gentleman, as he observed two little figures arrayed in plain white, a blonde and a brunette, parade the room. "They bathe in sunshine," was the response. Dr. A. Vogel of the Swiss legation was likewise present; also Madam and Mile. Ryhner, President Rickenbacher, Mr. and Mrs. Pfister, Prof. and Madam and Miles and Master Holer, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ellett, the Misses Annie, Marie and Helen Muller, Mr. and Mrs. J. Founder of the Kindergarten System Honored Last Night. If the spirit of the good Freebel, the founder of the kindergarten system, which has extended throughout the civilized world, could have hovered over the Luther Memorial Chapel last night, where the one hundred and thirteenth anniversary of his birth was being celebrated, it would have been, without doubt, greatly pleased with the scene that could have bee The large room was packed with an interested audience, and the overflow went terested audience, and the overflow went into the Sunday school room on either side, where, in the absence of proper seats, many ladies took possession of tables, the pulpit or arything else that they could find to rest upon. Besides those who succeeded in getting into the church there were hundreds who, after trying to effect an entrance, found that they could not get within hearing, and reluctantly left without attaining the object of their visit.

The program was excellently arranged and rendered, but the selection that attracted the most attention and commanded an encore was a vocal solo, "Time and Tide," rendered by Miss Sara Katherine Lippincott, with Mrs. Susanne Oldberg accompanist. For the encore Miss Lippincott gave Tirzah's Serenade from Ben Hur, which was also generously applauded.

The address of the evening was by Rev. Dr. Frank Sewall, whose theme was "The True Functions of the Kindergarten." Other features of the program were vocal duet, Venetian Vespers, Misses Sara Katherine Lippincott and Alla Le G. Vickery; reading, Miss Mattle Southerland Pope, Building of the Froebel Tower. Misses Lille J. Taliaferro and Amelia N. Mahr; instrumental duet, Hungarian Dances, Misses Helen F. McVea and Henrietta Smedes; instrumental solo, The Witches' Dance, Misse Grace Bryant; The Dream of the Fairies, Misses Dalsy Kerr and Sallie Hunter Moss and Mrs. Bessie B. Mulford; recitation, Froebel the Lover of Children, by the members of the Froebel and National Normal Treining Class of 1894-5. The opening prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. J. G. Butler, pastor of Luther Memorial Church, and the benediction pronounced by Rev. Dr. E. B. Patch, pastor of Gunton Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Centennial of Union College.

Next June Union College, so long presided over by Dr. Nott, will celebrate the one undredth year of its foundation at Scheectady, and great interest is manifested all over the country among the sons of "Old Union" to make the occasion rival that of the semi-centennial, in 1845, when Dr. Nott was perhaps the most noted college president at the time. In anticipation and as preparatory to the coming celebration, the slumni of Washington have called a meeting to complete an organization and have a dinner at the Hotel Page May 1. The new president of the college, Rev. A. V. V. Raymond, D. D., will be present, and others from New York and Baltimore are expected to join in remembering old college days. The committee in charge of the arrangements are Rev. Dr. Teunis S. Hamlin, Col. Weston Flint and Col. Addison A. Hosmer. Invitations have been extended to all alumni whose addresses are known. that of the semi-centennial, in 1845, when Mrs. and the Misses Boardman gave a
